Felt that the hero

image showed that the clinic

provides resources and is willing to help

Didn't expect to see the "contact

to book" CTA in

the footer

No problems Confused the njoyed the clarity finding common term of options from conditions from "professionals" the drop down chiropractic with "services" menu services page Enjoyed having No problems with Scrolled down on the visuals and finding common homepage to click title - "I'm more of conditions on on chiropractic a visual chiropractic box individual" services page felt that there was o problem finding quite a bit of white the common felt that the text clicked on the space between conditions after sections, felt that chiropractic box was not licking learn more she needed to on the homepage overwhelming on chiropractic actively keep her services page eye engaged

"A drop down Disliked having to Preferred a Went to "about" scroll to find comprehensive would give more ease rather than section insurance list of insurance needing to scroll" information providers Based off of logos, assumed they would take insurance Based off of logos, Went to "contact" Didn't think other Saw "insurance to find the options in the assumed they partners" link in information at global nav were would take footer first applicable insurance would prefer a assumed logos scrolled down to would go to drop down for meant they would private insurance "about" section "about" to better accept private partners see categories insurance *flow feels intuitive"

Expected to see Last place to look Want to see is the footer for some sort of Would've tried to something booking in 'contact to book' appointment call to talk to the services or CTA - "the contact related in the clinic professionals information is global navigation section already there* Thought hero Scrolled down to image's CTA on "Contact to book" Wasn't expecting footer and CTA made her homepage to be brought services to look would've been to back to the expect online for booking book (familiar contacts page booking system guidance design pattern) "if i'm pressing didn't think she if booking for a contact', i already felt the header in ould also use the would press particular service, know that i'm contact to get the contact was online form to she would go to contacting them number to call irrelevant book an that service to to book an book appointment" felt that the header didn't tie together the concept of calling/emailing to book

Liked being able to see the drop down menu Wasn't sure about what the philosophies section was about Felt the layout was simple and straight forward Felt the global navigation was clear Was curious if the services section on the homepage would have more information on hover

Liked that there were buttons (CTA) that she could interact with with the philosophy boxes would lead her to another page to learn more about each liked the "see all"

options

ersonally doesn't

care about

newsletters, but

potential

promotion is

Enjoyed having

the name and address at the top, easy to find

Liked seeing the insurance

information

clearly

"Want to know what I can look for because I'm not familiar with it"

Confused at *insurance partners" CTA (felt that it was payment related)

Felt the newsletters section felt really big (not a familiar design pattern)

Expected to see

"contact to book"

CTA in global

navigation

Felt the global navigation order

was off - used to seeing

ontact/about last

Felt the page was easy to understand

Wasn't sure about what philosophy

section was at first

Likes that the CTA stands out in the footer miro